

CS 4320: Machine Learning

Assignment: Final Project Start

In the final project series of assignments, you will extend your machine learning understanding and experience, by designing, completing, and presenting your own project.

First Submission

For this step in the project, submit a document that describes the project you have selected, how it extends beyond previous assignments in this course, and how you intend to complete it. Report on any preliminary work you have completed.

Submit a PDF of your document to the canvas assignment.

Commit and push your code base, and data if of reasonable size.