

CS 4320: Machine Learning

Assignment: Final Project Presentation

In the final project series of assignments, you will extend your machine learning understanding and experience, by designing, completing, and presenting your own project.

Slides Submission and Presentation

Prepare a presentation of your project and results to share with the class. During the scheduled final exam period, present your project to the class.

Plan a 5 minute presentation.

You should practice your presentation ahead of time to be sure you can fit the important information in that time. Your presentation must be a PDF file. If you want to use external resources, such as short video clips, post them publicly and link them from the PDF file.

Submit a PDF of your slides to the canvas assignment.

Commit and push your code base, and data if of reasonable size.
